Red Bank, N.J.—Project Write Now moves to the big stage of the Two River Theater this year for its second annual fundraiser, “Come Together: A Performance + Party.” More than two hundred local supporters of the nonprofit are expected to attend the celebration, which will be held Friday, October 13, from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. at the Two River Theater. The event will include a cocktail hour, a staged reading by adult and teen students, and a post-performance party.

“We are excited to showcase the talents of our students,” said Executive Director Jennifer Chauhan. “They have powerful stories to tell that will inspire our community.”

Chauhan and program director Allison Tevald have been leading the participants in writing workshops, generating material for the performance. “Our students have been reflecting on their writing and what they have experienced in our workshops,” said Tevald. “We’re very excited to reveal to the audience the transformative power that comes from sharing stories.”

The event will kick off with a cocktail hour featuring delicious food by Chef Chino Albans of The Danish Cafe and live music by local songwriter artist Austin Vuolo. After the performance, the festivities will continue with more food, drink, conversation, and community.

“Our work brings people of all age and backgrounds together in meaningful ways,” said Chauhan. “I’m thrilled we can showcase our mission at this exciting event.”

Project Write Now will also be honoring Kelly and Brooks Cullen of Little Silver, who have been generous supporters of the nonprofit since its inception in 2014 and who are also sponsors of the event.

Tickets are $150 per person and can be purchased online at www.projectwritenow.org. For more information on event sponsorship, please email Jennifer Chauhan at jennifer@projectwritenow.org or call (908) 675-0467.

All proceeds will support Project Write Now’s community programs. The group partners with schools and mission-based organizations to provide free writing workshops and services. They also offer an after-school writing program for local middle and high school students. Some of the organizations they partner with include Red Bank Middle School, The Community YMCA, Lunch Break, Long Branch High School, Henry Hudson Regional School, Shore House, Count Basie Theatre, Red Bank Regional High School, and the Red Bank Public Library.
